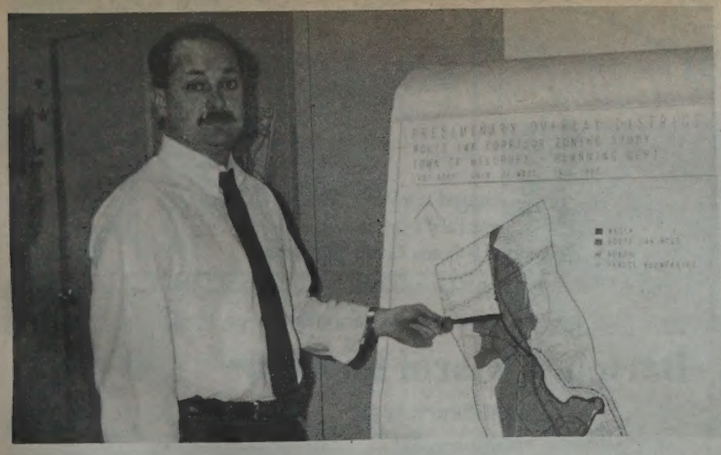
Overlay District Planned for Rte. 146

By Andree A. Belisle

MILLBURY - There's a rumor going around that a groundhog poked his head out of a hole on Rte. 146 on February 2, got hit by an overloaded tanker delivering oil to Worcester, and on its way to a veterinary hospital was heard to say it will be at least six years before any changes take place along Rte. 146.

Regardless of when changes do occur, voters at the annual town meeting have an opportunity to be part of the process by providing input for a proposed bylaw that would create an overlay district for Route 146. The district would run from Route 146 at the Millbury/Worcester town line south to where Elmwood Street and Rte. 146 intersect. The underlying zones in the district would remain the same, but placing an overlay on the district broadens the scope to allow for some development in the suburban and residential areas.



Town Planner Dave Hulseberg refers to the overlay map.

According to Town Planner Dave Hulseberg, the purpose of the Overlay District is to provide for orderly development that will encourage economic growth while avoiding serious negative effects locally and in the region by encouraging the most appropriate use of adjacent corridor lands. The district would also maintain the scenic natural and historical features of the area, and maintain the safe, efficient movement of traffic throughout the corridor.

Of all the industrial lands available for future growth in Millbury, approximately 300 acres, 75% of them are along Rte. 146. "We're not talking a lot of land available for future growth," Hulseberg said. "With the proposed interchange, and knowing that this community doesn't want to see a Route 9 situation with a massive number of curb cuts along the highway, we're seeking a way to provide for well-defined growth in the community without numerous curb cuts. We're looking for the new trend in development where parallel access roads occur and development is off these parallel access roads and off of the highway and controlling the growth so that it occurs well-balanced and matching the integrity of the community."

Hulseberg said the planning board is looking for a renewed mix of industrial and commercial business to offset the tax base. "This community at one time had a very big commercial/industrial base but that eroded over a period of time with the degradation of the mills," he said. "Now we're trying to increase the percentage of industrial/commercial properties to take the burden off the residential taxpayer. Residential properties cost, in terms of the services that are needed to be provided, to a greater extent than what commercial and industrial properties do. It's a natural association that you want to increase commercial/industrial to offset the residential property tax base."

In an effort to provide a comprehensive look at the changes that could occur with the approval of an overlay district, Hulseberg completed an overlay map with the assistance of graduate students from UMass/Amherst who served under him for one semester. "I had the students look at 146 from the Millbury/Worcester line to the Millbury/Sutton line, Hulseberg explained. "We studied one half mile off Rte. 146 on both sides of the highway. First, we needed to define what was developable and whether we had any rationale to even look at this area for development. We found that there is a vast amount of floodplain area within the community that cannot be built upon under any circumstances. We then found out where the residential and suburban and commercial/industrial areas are zoned. We're trying to get a semblance of what we have to ensure that if people want to do something it will be compatible."

Hulseberg and the students defined properties which were less than five acres, between 5-10 acres, 10-20 acres, and greater than 20 acres. "We saw that certain areas jumped out at us as far as their development potential," he said. "The areas that became the most prevalent, the most encouraging for possible development based on the topography of the land, the soils that were there and the way the parcel identifications came up in being greater portions of land, this became the first cursory view of where the overlay district should occur."

One tract of land to be included in the district is that land owned by the town on which the Shaw and Elmwood Street schools are located. Including that land in the overlay district will insure that there is no access to be able to enter onto Elmwood Street for development. "It strictly prohibits the ability to connect to that street so that you could never go from a residential district into an overlay district," Hulseberg said. "What we did by this is make town land much more valuable. In the event the community 25 years down the road wants to sell this land, it's now in an overlay district which gives it greater potential. An overlay district says you allow other uses than that which the underlying zone permits."

Another area included in the overlay district is that portion of 146 North of Rte. 20 which contains single family homes. "We felt if an interchange went through in this area," Hulseberg said, " these homes could then be bought out to allow for something special to happen there rather than what is allowed under the regular development procedures right now. You could create something bigger and better with a higher intensity use than what the zoning underneath it provides for."

The overlay district also includes the McCracken Road and Tainter Hill intersection. Hulseberg gave an example of how the overlay district would benefit a homeowner in this area. "If I'm in a particular area off Tainter Hill Road that is inside the overlay district, I can put my house in, not utilizing the overlay district, but utilizing the primary zoning below. If I have a house inside an overlay district and someone wants to build a project abutting me, the bylaws for the new overlay district require that they provide screening and buffering. So there's protection for the residential abutters that exist or those that are going to come in."

A unique feature of the proposed bylaw would provide for Open Space "Swapping" by developers. If a developer utilizes the overlay district permit, half of his property has to be open space. "By doing this," Hulseberg said, " we recognize that we do have a limited amount of land area on this 146 corridor and we're trying to get the greatest dollar impact and enhancement for the community. So we've provided the ability here for people to buy land off site but within the town of Millbury and create their open space there.

"If I'm a developer," Hulseberg continued, "and I have 10 acres but I know I can only build on five but I really want to build on all 10, the provisions of this bylaw allow me to buy uplands or good land elsewhere in the community abutting the river on a 1-1 slot. That means for every acre I had to keep as open space on my site I can now keep so

Surveys in the Mail

Volunteering to label some of the more than 5,000 surveys were members of the Millbury Council on Aging: (l-r) Gertrude Ellis, Aldona Karsok, Annie Daw, Eleanor Klosek, and Claude Jannery.

MILLBURY - The Millbury Planning Board is conducting a community survey to assist the town in designing a Master Plan to create "good growth" as opposed to "no growth."

According to Town Planner David Hulseberg, "Planning is the mark of good community sense and intelligent thought. It makes sense for a community to plan when changes are occurring and for the citizens to be a part of those changes. It makes even better sense to plan when changes are pending. Planning enables people to influence changes in the appearance, economy, and social life of their community. By planning, the community will begin to realize that the economy,t he housing base, the unique environment, and the historic characteristics are closely related to those pressing problems."

Surveys were mailed to Millbury residents on February 1. Results of the survey will be released in mid-March. Any questions on the survey should be directed to the Town Planner at 865-4754.

Members included Rachel Kupcinskas who scored 7 points, Tammy Taylor with a score of 4 points, Liz Crehan with 3 points, Kris Gauthier, Jennifer Morency, Mary Morency and Kerilyn Pease. The team did exceptionally well with a score of 12 points in the team round which helped push them into first place.

Math meets are conducted to test the ability of students in advanced skills. The competitive environment encourages the students, and many excel farther than they would in the classroom. Mrs. Graves, a high school science teacher who coached the Freshmen team, and Mr. Wilbur, the Varsity Math Coach, planned the home meet.

Millbury Selectmen's Meeting Digest

Board Given Update on Super Park

By Edward J. Cooney

MILLBURY - The January 29 Selectmen's meeting was called to order by Chairman Jude Cristo at 7 p.m.

Wheelabrator

Administrative Assistant Earl Chase reported that tonnage to Wheelabrator from numerous sources equaled a total weight of 490,000 tons. As host community, Millbury received $1.76 per ton for a total of $863,000 for 1990.

Chase said that, based on the tonnage for 1990 and a new rate of $1.88 per ton, the town could receive $922,000 in 1991.

The town's own tonnage for waste this year totalled 10,753 tons. Unused tonnage by the town totalled 572 tons. Chase said he had projected a surplus of 561 tons last October.

Cristo had consistently advocated selling the excess tonnage on the open market last Fall, a proposal that the Board of Health did not recommend. His only comment on the excess tonnage was, "I'm not going to say anything."

MMA Dues

Chase said that dues for membership in the Massachusetts Municipal Association have increased over 5% to $1450. The dues were not paid last year as monies were not budgeted.

Cristo suggested that monies be put into the budget and, if warranted, that item could be one of the first to be dropped.

Weights & Measures

The board approved a schedule to interview two applicants for the position of Sealer of Weights and measures at their next meeting. The applicants were not named.

Center School

Cristo said that the Town Planner has indicated that someone may be interested in renting space on the 3rd floor of the Center School. Under state law, the space must be advertised for bids.

Executive Session

At 7:15 the board moved to Executive Session for the purpose of collective bargaining with Police Chief Ron Stokowski and Personnel Board Chairman Kevin Barrett. The session lasted 35 minutes.

Handicap Parking Spaces

The board unanimously approved a request from Town Planner Dave Hulseberg for an additional handicap parking space on Elm Street in front of the Fallon Clinic Primary Care facility. The Safety Officer and Planning Board supported the request.

Cristo said handicap spaces should also be made in the rear of the facility abutting the municipal lot. Hulseberg said the interior layout of the building does not make handicap accessibility feasible from the rear.

A second proposal to raise the sidewalk three inches in grade to the front entrance of the clinic was deferred at Hulseberg's request after Selectmen Roland Lachance and Gerald Bleau raised a concern with the effect a change in grade would have on people walking along that section of Elm Street.

Hulseberg said he would seek engineering drawings to present to the board for their consideration.

Bleau suggested that a better grade or access from inside the building be looked at as an alternative to altering the sidewalk.

Municipal Parking Lot

Hulseberg said plans for the completion of the municipal parking lot are being drawn up, and the possibility of an article at the town meeting is being considered to complete the project. Private monies are also being raised to help complete the project.

The board voted 5-0 to support an article to raise and appropriate funds to complete the parking lot. Hulseberg said $12,000 would be forthcoming from a private source. The total cost of the project is expected to be $30,000 according to Cristo, compared to the original estimate 7-8 years ago of $100,000.

Planning Board Survey

Hulseberg asked for a sum of $950 to pay for mailing a survey from the Planning Board to all homeowners to get input on a Master Plan update. Hulseberg said it will cost $200 more next week when the price of stamps goes up.

The board approved a voucher for $950 subject to the approval of the Town Auditor.

Providence Street Bridge

Chase said he was told that the State DPW is proposing to work on the Providence Street bridge this April.

Last week, Lachance moved to have Chase draw up an article for the annual town meeting seeking funds for the town to repair the bridge. Chase said monies from a proposed town meeting article would not be available until July 1st.

Cristo questioned what would happen if the State does not start in April. He suggested the possibility of a special town meeting which would make monies more readily accessible for repairing the bridge. The town would then seek reimbursement later from the State.

Bleau suggested that the town contact Paul Carr, State DPW Engineer, to coordinate the diving team if the town does the work. He noted that even if monies are available, the work cannot be done if the divers are not available.

Super Park

Super Park Committee spokeswoman Evelyn Plante distributed a list of planned fundraisers to construct a park at Washington Street playground. The committee's goal is to raise $60,000 by next fall.

Cristo said the town may be able to help financially down the road since the playground will be located on town land and will be run by the Parks Department.

Plante said $2,794.03 has been raised to date, with a $1,000 donation expected from Little League.

Upcoming events include a dance marathon, Baystate Wheelers Basketball Game, and a coin drive. A T-shirt and sweatshirt sale is also planned.

Several companies have been contacted on the layout of a super park playground facility but a company has not been selected by the committee.

Plante said the committee is looking at alternatives to using wood since some towns report that the wood products used in their playgrounds require a lot of maintenance.

The committee is considering a walkway around the playground for parents. In addition, it has been proposed that the playground have swings and other equipment for the handicapped.

In response to a question from Lachance, committee member Happy Erickson, who is also a member of the Parks Department, said the proposal was not at a stage where a layout would be feasible. He did say that the parking lot would be expanded and the basketball court would be eliminated and put somewhere else since that land would be needed. The park would also have to be extended into a wetland area. Erickson said Conservation Commission Chairman Richard Luikey walked the area with him and said he saw no problem.

Bleau said a formal application for permits should be filed with the Conservation Commission.

Erickson said that once a company is chosen they would work with the committee to engineer and plan a layout and proper location. At that time, plans for the parking and playground locations would be available. If monies fall short, the project could be scaled down and added to later.

Erickson also said the committee is working with neighbors in order to address their concerns with parking and traffic.

Grafton Street Sidewalk

A letter from Highway Surveyor Jose Chase indicated that the cost for construction of an asphalt sidewalk on Grafton Street from Cross Street to Paul Revere Village would cost $52,224 if put out to bid and $38,674 if done by the highway department and town employees.

Gas Tanks

Chase said that Excel Environmental Engineering has proposed an extension of the contact for removal of gas tanks at the highway department to include a tank in East Millbury at the old school house for a price of $5836. Chase said that the law only allows for a 10% extension of any contract. Cristo suggested he inform Excel the town would extend the contract for a price of $4700.

Fire Hydrant

The board reviewed several pieces of correspondence, including a letter from Fire Chief Tom Nault concerning a fire hydrant on Church Street at Canal that was moved by Massachusetts American Water Company without notification to the Board of Fire Engineers. According to Nault, the hydrant was moved to a location "that impedes, if not totally obstructs, the efficient operation of this important fire hydrant."

Nault asked the town to stop payment on the annual fee for the rental of this fire hydrant until the location and operation have been approved by the Board of Fire Engineers. The board voted unanimously to support Nault's request.

The meeting adjourned at 8:56.

Amateur Astronomy Series for Adults

MILLBURY - Steven A. Nathan, lecturer at the Seymour Planetarium, returns to the Millbury Public Library, 128 Elm Street, with his amateur astronomy series "Stargazing" for Adults. This series will be held on Tuesdays, February 19, 26, and March 5 from 6:30-7:30 (rain dates the following Thursdays).

Have fun learning about astronomy in this three part series. You'll be involved in a 15 minutes indoor presentation and the rest of the class time will be spent outside observing the heavens.

Dress warm for evening outdoor viewing. If you have binoculars and telescopes you may bring them, but they are not necessary. The most important things you need to bring are your own enthusiasm and curiosity.

This program is open to adults only. Space is limited, so register early by calling 865-1181. Registration begins on Tuesday, February 5.

Folksinger/Storyteller to Perform at Library

The program is recommended for children age 4 and up, and parents. Registration for this program starts on February 12. To register, call 865-1181.

Van Egmond's tale-spinning ranges from the rib-tickling to the spine-tingling, to the heart-warming. His music flows in and around his stories though his singing and playing on a variety of traditional instruments (limberjack, hammered and mountain dulcimers, mouth bow, guitar, and conga drum). His warmth and his gift of encouraging participation make for high-spirited and engaging programs.

Van Egmond has performed throughout the country, including appearances at folk festivals, with the Hudson River Sloop Clearwater, at hundreds of schools, libraries, and community centers, and on a number of television and radio programs. He is on the Folk Traditions roster of the Pioneer Valley Folklore Society, and is a performing member of the Western New England Storytellers' Guild.

This program is supported, in part, with funds from the Massachusetts Arts Lottery, as administered by the Millbury Arts Lottery Council.

long as there's a piece that abuts the river. This would create a greenway and an open space plan along the river as we try to bring the river back."

The bylaw also provides that land abutting conservation areas can be purchased on a 2-1 slot to increase the open space that the town now controls. A third alternative, a 3-1 slot, allows a builder to provide three acres of uplands any where in the town of Millbury.

"We figure this is a new way to create open space at no cost to the people in town," Hulseberg said, "and at the same time we're allowing a greater concentration of development to occur in a nodal pattern along Rte. 146 while ensuring that the traffic patterns and the visual appearance of the highway meets the character of the town."

The bylaw also provides other bonuses to developers. "If a plan comes in that is well designed and they meet all the criteria, we could award a 10% bonus in open space," Hulseberg explained. "Developers look at land on a pro forma basis; they look at dollars and cents and the nuts and bolts of it. In order to make a well designed building they've got to receive some rewards. There has to be some benefit, some monetary value has to spur them to do this."

Hulseberg said the overlay district is being designed with a "carrot and stick approach." "You have to have some enticement out there for a developer to do something a certain way rather than a stick approach where you beat them and say you have to do this," he said, "because when you say you have to do something, someone is only going to do exactly what you say they have to do by the bylaw. By providing the carrot out there, it provides a true benefit that certainly the developer is going to see it pays for him to do this."

One area receiving special attention from the Planning board deals with child care and elderly care facilities. "If you build a day care facility or elderly care facility for people of the community and the region that would not count against you on your floor area ratio of the building. In fact," Hulseberg said, "if you are willing to commit yourself to do a study on the town's needs for day care and elderly care so that we don't have to finance that ourselves, we'll give you a .25 increase in your floor area ratio.

"We're looking at mechanisms that say, hey you're Mr. developer out there, you want to do certain things in the community and we want certain things done. We want to see open space," he said, "we want to see our elderly and youth taken care of. We're looking at ways for them to provide betterment to the community and we're giving them incentives to do those things."

While encouraging certain types of businesses, the bylaw also discourages "high trip generators," such as trucking terminals, commercial or institutional laundries or dry cleaning facilities, outdoor or underground storage or disposal of engine lubricants, restaurants with drive through service and/or counter service, motor vehicle service stations, used and/or new car, boat, and truck sales.

"We have a strong desire to ensure that this highway is clean and flows in a traffic pattern that's conducive to keeping our community the way it is," Hulseberg said. "Taco Bell and Jiffy Lube and all these other places bring their signs, they bring their traffic, and it's not what we're encouraging. It's not a high dollar yield that you see as a return coming from their taxes because it's a rather small structure. Their floor area ratio is small and a lot of people are serviced by it - quick in-quick out." Existing businesses that fall into these categories would be grandfathered in.

According to Hulseberg, the Planning Board is working on a plan to present at town meeting to say, "Look, the bylaws we now have on Rte. 146 are archaic and inappropriate, they provide for a Rte. 9 to occur or a Rte. 12 situation in Auburn. We, as representatives of the community, are saying we don't want to see that kind of development. We want to see well designed growth in the community and ensure that parking lots aren't seas of asphalt, that open space occurs, that there's a nice green beltway along the river. These are things that are of real concern to the planning board."

Hulseberg stressed that the Planning Board has not set the bylaw in stone as yet. "They're constantly revising it before the town meeting so that we'll have the best possible bylaw as a warrant item," he said.

The planning board is also looking for input from the community since the 146 corridor will affect the community as a whole. "Rte. 146 runs north and south and divides the community in half," Hulseberg said. "It is not our intent that 146 become a wall between East Millbury and West Millbury. Rather, this is a great opportunity because what we've designed here provides vast benefits to the community."

A public hearing on the overlay district began on January 23 and will continue for some time as part of the board's regular bi-monthly Monday evening meetings.

Residents may have to wait until 1997 to see if the groundhog's prediction about Rte. 146 comes true, but they would be wise not to wait until 1997 to participate in the process.

icy and Procedure Manual. The Board will be provided with the personnel records of the candidates, excluding evaluations.

A written evaluation by the Chief will be worth 25 points. Veterans Service will be worth 5 points.

After scoring, the Town Administrator will submit the top two candidates to the Chief who will make a recommendation to the Town Administrator for appointment.

Chief Appointment Policy

All Sutton Police Sergeants and the Lieutenant with three or more years of experience shall be encouraged to apply without regard to the Degree or the experience required of outside candidates. However, a Sutton candidate who does not meet the requirements must commit to meeting the requirements if appointed. An outside candidate must have at least a Bachelors Degree and at least 10 years of experience, at least three in an administrative or supervisory capacity.

Candidates shall be able to coordinate, lead, and conduct training programs in in-service training, crime prevention, community education, drug, alcohol and safety education in schools. They must show an understanding of Massachusetts case law, the judicial system, and police practices.

General Law residency requirements must be met.

A professional management company will conduct an assessment. A panel of local residents will screen initial applications. All screened outside candidates and the local candidates will be submitted to the Assessment Team. The affiliation of candidates will not be divulged to the Team in order to avoid prejudice.

Johnson reiterated his position about consideration to be afforded Sutton applicants. He said the word "preference" should be in there, because Sutton residents are entitled to preference.

Connor suggested a review of the minutes of June 19, 1990 when the issue was discussed at some length. "We did finally adopt something," she said.

This and other aspects of the policies will be reviewed by Blois with Chief Baker, and then by the Board.

Highway Safety Study Committee

The minutes of the Committee meeting of Nov 28, 1990 were reviewed. The Committee is composed of Chief Baker, Fire Chief Peterson, Town Engineer Wharton and Highway Surveyor Smith. Sutton Center intersection changes were agreed upon and referred to the Selectmen. The plan is as follows: install a new stop sign West on Boston Road. Move the watering trough on to town property in order to square off the intersection; move the bush near the Memorial Plaque. Install "No Parking" signs on the East side of Uxbridge Road from Boston Road to a point to be determined after Blois surveys the road. Paint "Stop" lines at stop sign locations. Place a "Stop Ahead" sign prior to the new stop sign. The Board moved and passed the recommendations unanimously.

Budget

Blois presented a preliminary budget summary. Receipts are not finalized, but requested expenditures exceed prospective receipts. At this time last year a similar condition existed. After a cooperative effort among Blois, the Finance and Warrant Advisory Committee, and Department heads, a balanced budget was achieved. Blois feels he can submit a balanced budget this year also.

Children's Films at Library

"February Films" is sponsored by Millbury House of Pizza and the Friends of the Millbury Public Library.

On The Shelf

By Rosemary Waltos

What are the origins of Valentine's Day? The most cynical of us take it for a manufacturer's creation to sell paper goods and confectioneries, but its roots are deeper. Its origins can be found in the Lupercalia festival of ancient Rome and again with the early martyrs of Christendom through the Middle Ages, "For this was on St. Valentine's Day. / When every fowl cometh to choose his mate." (Geoffrey Chaucer, The Parliament of Fowls)

By the 1400's, the custom of sending verses on Valentine's Day was established, and by the 1700's both in Europe and in new World customs evolved that engage the hearts of young men and women together in romance.

Below is a list of selective materials dealing with "matters of the heart" that you'll find at the Millbury Public Library.

Board Reviews Promotional Policies

By Lawrence Moore

SUTTON - The Sutton Selectmen's meeting of January 29 was called to order by Chair Mary K. Connor, with Wally Johnson, Mike Chizy, Rick LaBonte, and Dave Strieby present.

Liquor License Rules & Regulations

It was noted that all Town establishments have received copies of proposed liquor license rules and regulations with their license renewals.

The Rules and Regulations are an extension and refinement of Mass General Laws Chapter 138. They provide for adherence to times of service, access before and after hours, the identification to the Town of persons granted access before and after hours. They also require a "final call" 20 minutes prior to closing, and a clearing of patrons 10 minutes after closing. Provision is made for requesting "special hours," and service to minors and intoxicated persons is prohibited.

Section 10 of the Rules and Regulations concerning training for alcohol servers was discussed, with suggestions made for inclusion of further specifics to avoid possible misunderstandings.

Revision, suggestions, and comments from licensees will be reviewed before the Rules & Regulations are finalized.

As an indication of the seriousness with which the Selectmen viewed the "liquor serving" problems, discussion included training of full and part time bartenders, concern for waiters and waitresses, time limits for completion of training, filing of training certification with Selectmen, dealing with "emergency" servers without training and enforcement of training requirements.

In discussing the time between employment and training, at one point Chizy said, "I think next year or the year after it should be a requirement that any bartender hired in Sutton have TIPS training before they start."

It was suggested that that requirement be expanded to anyone involved in the serving of alcohol. Recognition was made of the "occasional" server who might work only a few times a year. Further definition will refine these requirements.

Police Promotional Policies

On November 16, 1990 Police Chief William Baker sent a set of Police Promotional Policies to the board for their review. Sergeants and the Lieutenants on the force have had an opportunity to comment on the Lieutenant and Chief process, and all Officers had an opportunity to comment on the Sergeant process.

Sergeant Promotional Policy

To be promoted to sergeant, the policy calls for an applicant to be a Sutton Patrolman with 2 or more years full time service in the Sutton Department.

The applicant will be required to take a written test worth 50 points; an oral Board worth 50 points; and will undergo an evaluation by the Chief, worth 10 points. There will be a Veteran Service credit of 5 points, as suggested by LaBonte.

The written test of 50 questions will cover Criminal and Motor Vehicle Law, case law covering arrest, search and seizure, Miranda, stop and frisk, etc., the book "Supervision of Police Personnel", and the Sutton Police Policy and Procedure Manual. A minimum of 35 correct answers will be required for further consideration.

The Oral Board will consist of the Town Administrator and two Police Chiefs. Each candidate will be asked the same 15 questions, worth 45 points. The Personnel records of the candidate, showing his "curriculum vitae" except for evaluations, will be worth 5 points.

The subjective evaluation of the Chief will be worth 10 points.

The Town Administrator will appoint from the 3 candidates with the highest scores.

Lieutenant Promotional Policy

An applicant for Lieutenant must be a Sutton Police Sergeant for 2 or more years. An assessment center consisting of three outside persons will be chosen by the Town Administrator after consultation with the Selectmen. It will be conducted under the Supervision of the Town Administrator and the Chief. It will be worth 50 points. It will consist of role playing, a written and a verbal section. Based on common sense and experience, it will include supervision problems, internal affairs, discipline, schedule, budget and payroll.

An Oral Board, consisting of the same panel of assessors, will ask 15 identical questions of each candidate. This section will be worth 25 points. The topics will be personal history, statutes, case law, and the Sutton Police Pol-

From My Window on Farnsworth Court

By "Pastor Rae" Cameron

The ladies of our area are wearing a distinct badge of honor these days, in the form of a house. They are the pins being sold to support Abby's House which, as I understand it, houses some of our homeless.

These pins are made by a lady up in Portland, Maine. They look to be made of different shaped pieces of tile and glued into the shape of a house and then covered with some plastic to hold them together. They have a pin attached. They are most attractive in appearance, but even more meaningful in what they are supporting by their sales.

One of the sales persons in this enterprise is my good neighbor, Aline Bourdeau. Whenever she wears one of them, people ask where they can get one and off it comes and she has made another sale. She has sold them in the hundreds. So if you haven't gotten yours yet, just contact her. That is if you can catch up with her as she is a very busy lady.

There are many other similar wonderful things happening in these days of recession. Almost all of our churches are now united in having food collections at least once a month. I know in my own church we will be doing it on the first Sunday of the month in conjunction with our Communion. We feel that Communion is our inward journey towards a more meaningful personal relationship with our God. The collection of food for the poor is our outward journey in reaching out in love to others as a result of experiencing the love of God ourselves.

Credit for this emphasis must be given to my dear colleague and friend, Father Larry at St. Brigid's, where they have been doing this already with spectacular results. Also, in our Unity Sunday Service, each church was asked to bring a symbol of their church. Millbury Federated Church brought a bag of groceries so we understand they are ministering to this concern as well.

These needs are going to be even more acute in the days ahead as our government strives to balance the budget. I used to get a magazine entitled, "Christian Economics." The editor had a one string violin on which he played this tune: "government stay out of it." The ball of concern is being tossed into our laps and with God's help we must be ready to meet the challenge. Jesus said, "In as much as you have done it unto the least of these, you have done it unto me." Amen.
